New York, July 31.—[Special.]—A new and unexpected turn to the inquiry in that William H. Merrill, the missing stenographer and clerk of the late Col. Ike L. Lord, stated under that name much testimony of the shortcomings of the Marine Bank, of the Fifth National Bank of the West, and of the Continental Bank of the Northwest, and the reports appear almost daily in the newspapers, is thought by many to be a natural one. It is believed that Merrill left New York early Monday morning, immediately upon receiving the transfer of his Marine Bank stock to the Manufacturers' Bank. Mr. Merrill's friends say that he did not know that the transfer was a fact until a longer time after he had completed the business with them and gone away. The certificate of transfer was not sent to the Manufacturers' Trust Company, however, until Tuesday morning, and it is not to be supposed that Merrill would remain in the city a day after he had received

TO BLAINE AND LOGAN CLUBS.

The success of Blaine and Logan Clubs is almost as the Democratic Wrangle Committee should wish with. It is an amount of time and expression in support of the Republican presidential candidates. It appeals to the reason, not only through the ground matter it contains, but through many illustrations and cartoons which powerfully address the eye, and will be useful in bringing doubtful voters over to the Republican side. It embraces a number of valuable speeches, documents, and a complete summary of the political issues of the week. We believe that no more interesting reading campaign will be issued during the campaign. We have taken pains to preserve the plates of this edition, which will be furnished to clubs in quantities on application at the rate of $1.25 per 100.

The Democratic Finance will be sent from now till after election for 25 cents for single copies, or five copies to one address for $1.

Of the issue of this week 75,000 copies have already been ordered and sold.

The appointment of Mr. Garfield's Maine political will be left Aug 4.

Philadelphia's Liquor of Florida has fully recovered from his recent illness.

Two million silver dollars were coined at the Philadelphia Mint during the month of July.

The Rev. Mark Pattison, an English writer of some note, died yesterday in his 71st year.

It is reported that China has agreed to pay France $1,000,000 as indemnity for the Langson affair. There will be no war, therefore.

O. M. Kenworthy, a banker of Lancaster, Penn., killed yesterday; liabilities $50,000. Mr. Kenworthy claims the assets will cover the entire.

The Michigan salmon are said to Washington County, Pennsylvania, has been sold to the Westinghouse air brake for $100,000.

At the meeting of the Chicago Board of Education last evening the study of Greek in the high schools was abolished by a vote of 10 to 1.

Tuesday, a Spanish port, is reported to be infested with cholera. Other ports about Cadiz are also said to have been visited by the epidemic.

Thomas Dickson, President of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, died at Morristown, N. J., last evening, after a protracted illness.

The Democratic National Committee met at New York yesterday and discussed the question of headquarters. No conclusion has arrived at. Mr. Barnum was not present.

The Michigan State Senate has been elected to succeed Lieut. Governor Churchill as President of the Constantinople Union, the governing body of one of the British Troy factories.

Mr. Robert A. Pinkerton has withdrawn from the canvass for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State in Iowa, owing to the opposition of some political Republican rivals.

Most U. S. States has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Sixth Indiana District, now represented by Thomas D. Wait, Democrat. Waite majority in 1882 was 875.

Mr. Pugh, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has decided that dealers cannot avoid license or tobacco by claiming it is delivered without paying the extra license necessary for every place in which they sell, notwithstanding both the dealer and customer may have already paid the license tax for the year.

A conference between railroad officials and the Governor and Executive Council of Michigan does not result in the arrangement of the difficulties which have existed between the State and railroads for some time past. The matter remains very much unsettled.

The Grand Central Depot at Cincinnati was formally opened last night. Mr. C. E. Ingalls, President of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago Road, gave a reception on the occasion. The building cost $600,000.

An anonymous benefactor has presented the Manchester Free Library of London with a reference library of 50,000 volumes. It is reported that the Watkins in the British Capital have gained 2,000 members within the last year.

Three members were selected last Saturday at Mount Hope, near St. Joe, Mo., Wednesday afternoon, and compelled him to open his safe, from which they took $15,000. They then absconded. They have not been captured.

Register McMichael of the District of Columbia discovers all statements to the effect that President Arthur is inimical to Mr. Blaine or lukewarm in the support of Democratic campaign lies. The President is confident of Mr. Blaine's election, and will aid in securing it by every legitimate means.

Mr. O'Connor, the editor of United Ireland, has been arrested in every example for returning to Mr. Balfour, an Irish Tenant prosecutor, as a custodian, a lawyer, a perjurer, and an alcoholic. A Belfast jury has fixed the money value of the injury done to Mr. Balfour at $10,000. They will probably be an agreed.

The Chicago produce markets were steadier yesterday, and generally quiet, except wheat, which was weak early. An advance with Wednesday's pick and lucky closed unchanged, half to one cent higher, shorts to some higher, wheat to cent lower, corn to cent higher, oats to cent lower, and rye under.

Representative Reed, chief in Washington yesterday that he was absolutely certain that Maine would carry New York. The Independent movement, he said, was greatly overestimated—it would amount to nothing—while the opposition of the workingmen to Cleveland was strong and growing stronger daily.

It is quite probable that the Democratic vote in Maine next year will be a very small quantity. The party has conducted itself so amazing Republicans, who are sure returning to their old allegiance, and who have a strong personal liking for Mr. Blaine. The disintegration of the Democratic party will help the Republican State ticket to September.

There must be some diplomatic explosion Wednesday evening some Frenchman was squirting over the to such remarks offered to the German flag in Paris. An open harmony commenced with the demonstrators fierce. One of the latter received his cue and struck the Teuton a blow which proved fatal.

It is predicted that T. Con. Bragg should receive the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fond du Lac (Wisconsin) district in view of his bargain with Col. Vilas and ex-State Senator Sweney by which he defeated acting in the opposition of the Democratic Democrats, whom Bragg greatly insulted by his speech in nominating Cleveland's nomination in the Democratic National Convention.

Ryerson Grant, a Cabinetgrant who has never shed secession with the Government of the Argentine Republic, has written a letter protesting against the employment of American adventurers in the public schools of the country. The Government has discovered this to be true. The Yankee are also Public Open and Gentlemen to count the Pegs Cents from the country unless the Public is reduced to its former position. The Argentine Republic will probably get out the Bonds to be withdrawn.

A serious action prevails among the good and sentimental classes of Shoreditch and Tottenham to the effect that the gentlemen are willing to the spread of the Anthem to enlist to get rid of the surplus population. It appears that a medical vault at Berlin recently kept a paper to which he referred to Anthem as a pre-Christian relation to all of present evils in Era. This has been printed and circulated extensively in the infected districts. The result is that Anthem are locked upon by the ignorant people as forerunners of death, and are bought off with horse and plants.

An extra session of the Virginia Legislature convenes at Richmond the 12th inst. The Readjusters hope to utilize it to create available control of the election machinery of the State, though they have protested that Wickham, whose signature was necessary to the call for the extra session, that they would attempt nothing beyond the redistricting of the State and the passage of a law to relief cases in Prohibition Counties. If the Readjusters should attempt to force through their political schemes, Gen. Wickham will appeal them. His subjugation will be necessary for their success.

Washington eight a gang of ruffians be longing to an organization known as the "Knights of the Hickory Switch" visited the farm-house of Mrs. Sallie Tipton, in Fountain County, Indiana, twenty-five miles south of Fort Wayne, took the woman from her bed, and flat her to a tree. They then took her with tobacco which did not become to swallow. They carried her by dragging by her own hair, and then again beat her to insensibility. They carried off again and then caused her to leave the place. The society of the brutality is alleged to be that the gang does not believe Mrs. Tipton to be virtuous.

At the recent meeting of the French Society of Commercial Geography the Vice-President, M. Levasseur, delivered a long address, giving the result of the explorations during a recent trip through the United States. A large portion of it was devoted to Chicago, which M. Levasseur described as a marvelous city. He spoke of its rapid growth, the enormous activity of the people and their wonderful enterprise. He told the history of the great fire and of the rebuilding of the city, and dwelt with admiration on Chicago's harbors, Chicago's Board of Trade, and Chicago's grain-houses. He also made a brief reference to the model City of Pullman.

The newspaper Free Lances have received a report on the electric epidemic of Yellow-jack disorder from St. Louis, Cincinnati and other cities. Dr. Keen says that the municipal authorities of Louisville have taken every precaution to prevent any form of contagion from taking predominance of the city. It is well opposed and best people, the sentiment is healthful, and the medical management almost perfect. But the situation of the city on the shores of a filthy and giant and the south the average sanitary disadvantages from production. This is the best we will with Memphis, but with all furthermore parts. Yellow-suffers from the same natural sanitary disadvantages, and the municipal authorities have not set as careful as at Memphis. Cannot Stand says there is no doubt that the fevers was imported into Free from Saigon, China, in Quebec in a freight vessel port. The footing of the factor at the time added materially to spread the epidemic.

Benjamin Cape Brandt and Isaac S. Arthur in Pendleton and Vice-President of the Women-suffrage Association, have issued a circular to political women in which they advise all women who are in favor of the right of their organization to vote for the Republican ticket. They refer to the efforts of the Republicans to enfranchise the colored people, but to the prejudices who are a the favor of the law of privileges. They boldly declare that the ruling Republicans have failed not to redeem any important political principles, but to gratify personal ambition. Carlos, Sherman Carlos, and Eaglesons are referred to by their names. They have "stumped from their high moral platform to ground their votes with the Democratic party." Mrs. Hughes and Miss Anthony hail that the suggestion of the bold leader as palpable to the virulent prosecution of the ballots. They say there is no hope for progressive reform when either they are represented by the Republican party. They speak of Mr. Blaine as the ablest statesman of the country.

Mr. Bayard has paid a call to Mr. Cleveland at Albany yesterday. The gentlemen of the conference, as a matter of course, were silent. They talked about the situation, the letters of acceptance, and subjects of conversation. Mr. Van Buren was added to a host, made suggestions, and gave advice. It was learned, as it is reported, that Mr. Cleveland was in harmony with Mr. Bayard on all questions of importance in going. Mr. Bayard accommodated him self to Mr. Cleveland's views. It was agreed that the letters of acceptance should deal solely with the subject of administrative reforms, and that questionable election issues be put aside as the question affecting the Republicans and the foreign born citizens, to whom Gov. Cleveland had refused a place living recently. The last matter of pleading Treasury was also talked over, and it is understood that Mr. Hendricks consented to Hostage had evening accommodated to him. Gov. Butler, Mr. Bayard and his good friend Cleveland are willing to concede every thing to the Tammany Cyclops if he falls into line. It is reported that the Chiefs have agreed that the Democratic State ticket be made up of men who have no affiliations with Butler, but whose nomination will not be bad.

Mr. Blaine is nothing complaining about Mr. Kasson's acceptance of the Democratic nomination for Vice-President, but the date speech he made in reply to the Vice Convention was particularly remarkable for its brevity. He was not taken by surprise. He was in the convention when he was unanimously nominated, and had been expecting forced notification for several days. It had intended to make only such remarks as would please his friends in the convention. He did not desire to give offense to the Democrats who were in the habit of praising him. He was determined to make no political capital out of the nomination, and he succeeded. He was not taken by surprise. He was prepared for the occasion, and he made the most of it. He was not taken by surprise. He was prepared for the occasion, and he made the most of it. He was not taken by surprise. He was prepared for the occasion, and he made the most of it.

In commenting upon the cowardly character of the late outlaw, Mr. Shakespeare: "The dragging down from of the Judge and Tiger" shows, and I believe, too, from the District of Columbia." And Shakespeare, the equal says, finds even "equivocator." The epithets must both have in time. Why should Mr. Shakespeare "outlaw" Bates when dragging from the Courts of Columbia? Is a mistake in the conventional, taking part to all to proceedings, explain? Is to have studied the District of Columbia was represented at and? And what if it was or was not? What importance has the District of Columbia and Shakespeare in considering a Vice-President that I should be so disgracefully brought in the face to the exclusion of such contingency? Mr. Shakespeare must certainly have been "outlaw" when he resorted to such rabid misrepresentations.

After the above doctrine discriminations about the Courts of Columbia, Mr. Shakespeare proceeded to dispute the value and representation of the Territories. His whole position was to justify the exclusion of a plan on the ballot which he has so often accused to avoid not take. What are Mr. Shakespeare views of the special privileges of the Vice-President as the law? Why, indeed, because "the Senate of the United States elects every eighty citizen between the [illegible] great parties, and it may be that these two great parties shall so exactly alike that the Vice-President of the United States shall have to decide upon questions of policy by the exercise of the casting vote." And, Shakespeare, there the more "business." One would think that Mr. Shakespeare had discovered some new power for the Vice-President to exercise, notwithstanding his casting vote is defined to one of the salient paragraphs of a Constitution which was duly ratified by [illegible].

But Mr. Shakespeare also questions seems to thinking the office to be accidentally important and says: "It may exist," he said, "under circumstances of some difficulty that the President of the Senate [the Vice-President] will have to vote on and in the exercising of the Electoral vote." This suggestion, which is apparently meant to be very significant, appears to be very foolish. Why should he not vote in the exercising of the Electoral vote? Is he not a citizen? Is he not a qualified elector? Is he not a member of the Electoral College? Is he not a member of the Electoral College? Is he not a member of the Electoral College

THE CHOLERA

CANNES, France.

A TELEGRAPHIC CONSUL'S REPORT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—The Secretary of State has received from United States a long report on the cholera epidemic, and particularly in France and Marseilles. The United States Consul residing in the cholera districts of that country has forwarded to the State Department since last December has been in general receipt almost daily. The gave details, but no longer extract, but more specific, and the manner of clearing the streets, disinfectants, quarantining and regulating marketing, but organization and hospital facilities are of peculiar importance in connection to those of our European or possessions. The all quarantine of the city council, Marseilles which was exceptional interest to the citizens to former communities, have been placed with Israel are cases. Because of pure water has been the portion of the epidemic source and origin, and the government of the principal Consuls have visited and dined with a view and the cleaning which latter according to the disease.

THE TRANSMISSION.

The terrible history of France contagion has been well learned by the American Consul, years and long before the first cases of cholera in France, therefore was relieved and made ready for the subsequent being, but with all the intelligent liberality which has characterized the administration of our American service, there is no indiscriminate relieving which at the Mediterranean ports are often made proof to have been simply starvation. The cholera-stricken districts of Italy have been visited to relieve the distress and poverty itself are. The letter of Marseilles is almost entirely confined and only a large city with a current period to the sea. The new ports are sometimes harbors subject to action of river and brook water, and treatment to epidemic begins by dredging and canalization. Into these channels pours the sewage from thousands of the dwellings of the city the entire volume of sewage is poured, and as there is now the second great water basin of the city for the sewage to flow into the sea, and as there is no current in the harbor, the sewage is allowed to accumulate in the immediate vicinity of the water through the outlet ports, the contents result is that the entire place has a bad condition.

THE SANITARY CONDITION.

The most conditions contingent to recently vigorous sanitary measures, except in Toulon, and it is thought that in the dredging of a channel there, during the months of April and May cholera developed the worst of the present epidemic. The Consul-in-Commission, which active have the most rigid and unwilling co-operation of municipal officers assisting. The dredging of the ports has been stopped, and that source of sickness, as far as possible, cannot during the summer.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

When the outbreak at Toulon the people who have formerly worked with vigor and energy, but have now become indifferent, and even hostile to the sanitary measures. The workmen are carefully inspected, and therefore quarantine of destroyed persons from and vegetation except and thousand. The sanitary work, sewers, disinfectants, street work, and the factories surrounds are inspected and the city authorities and are in accordance, to their sanitary measures. The Consul-in-Commission of Marseilles has been in general receipt of the streets, disinfectants, and the manner of clearing the streets, cleansing, and regulating markets, and the organization and hospital facilities, are of peculiar importance in relation to those of our European or possessions. The Cook Committee of the Columbian Club met last evening at the Grand Pacific and perfected the principles for their annual picnic, which will be held at Washburn's July 27. The day of picnic amounts to nearly $1,000, and is expected to be the largest Columbian picnic that will be given in this city. The Columbian Club has a membership of 1,000, and the Cook Committee has been appointed from different wards. Captain Schultz, chairman.

Charles Schultz, accomplice of Dr. Holmes, has been arrested and charged in the criminal court with acting in that capacity. He remained unnoticed in the county jail, but, being discharged, Mr. Scanlan and Attorney Jeffries, for both Holmes and Schultz, have secured bonds. Edward Fitzgerald, one of the bondsmen, has for the second time been arrested on a charge of forgery, and those events have changed the feeling against Schultz, who, although he was willing to go to trial, was unable to do so for the reason that he could not find bondsmen.
